

Artist Paul Stankard often writes poetry inspired by his sculptures. Now it's your turn to do the same!

A cinquain (pronounced sin-cane) is a poem made up of five lines. Cinquains use action words and descriptive language to convey an emotion or a tell a story to the reader.

Study your finished sculpture for inspiration as you write your cinquain below.

---

Line #1: title of your artwork

---

Line #2: two describing words

---

Line #3: three words expressing an action

---

Line #4: four feeling words

---

Line #5: one word describing nature